We calculated the gender pay gap for each school’s students six years and ten years after entering college. In each matchup, the team with the lower percentage advances through the tournament (be aware that some of the percentages are negative).

*The percentages listed by each school in the tournament bracket equal the percentage point difference between the pay gap six years after entry to college minus 10 years after entry.

Source: U.S. Department of Education College Scorecard